7TH & 8TH GRADE ACTIVITY

INSTRUCTIONS: Print out a copy of the Wild Street riddle below for each competing squad.

WILD STREET

Five houses are in the wild street. They are numbered: 801, 803, 805, 807 and 809 from left to right. Each house has a different color or pattern, a different owner (who is each from a different state), a different vehicle (each of a different type), a different drink and a different pet. The five houses are situated on the same street and the same side. The Texan lives in the red, white and blue house. The New Yorker owns a Go-cart. The Hawaiian has a tiger. The Idahoan drinks wheatgrass juice. The slugs are at the same distance from the hot air balloon and the Mountain Dew drinker. The owner of the Boa Constrictor does not drink sewer sludge, and he does not live in the tie dyed house. The owner of the ugly yellow house drinks sassafras. The clams are neighbors to the house where wheatgrass juice is drunk. The ugly yellow house is one house to the left of the florescent green house. The New Yorker and the Hawaiian are neighbors. The owner of the UFO raises slugs. The Prius belongs to the pinstriped house. The owner of the third house drinks Red Bull. The Marylander lives beside the tie dyed house. The owner of the Mack Truck car drinks Mountain Dew. The owner of the clams lives beside the owner of the hot air balloon. The owner of the Prius lives beside the owner of the aphids.
