SAINTS & INSPIRATIONAL STORIES

VENERABLE JERZY CIESIELSKI

When John Paul II (then Karol Wojtyla) was a local parish priest, he taught and guided a group of university students in Krakow. One of them was engineering student, Jerzy Ciesielski.. During their time together as a group, Jerzy spoke about the fact that regular Catholics were also called to become saints. Later in life he travel to work in Africa as a professor for 1 semester, during which time he and his 2 sons drowned in a boating accident. John Paul II was there at his funeral and expressed the extreme sadness at the passing of his friend. Jerzy's beatification process began in 1985 and Pope Francis has recognized his heroic virtues in 2014.
